Meta pixel and Conversions API Recommended

Use the Conversions API combined with a pixel to send web activity and customer actions from both your server and website. The Conversions API sends data directly through an API connection, which helps improve targeting and optimisation for deep-funnel events. Advertisers with a pixel who set up the Conversions API saw 13% CPA (cost per action) improvement on average. Learn more

Meta pixel only

Only use a pixel to send web activity. Loading errors, connectivity issues and ad blockers in browsers may sometimes prevent a pixel from sharing data effectively. For a more reliable connection, we recommend using the Conversions API and Meta pixel setup, which helps you see more accurate conversion data and lower your cost per result.

Advertisers who used the Conversions API alongside the Meta pixel for their campaigns saw a 13% decrease in cost per result on average.
